

BEACH BODY

- a dance performance
for the beach or the city

Beach Body is a site-specific dance performance investigating the beach and city as a stage and the movements, choreography and architecture that it inhabits. Beach Body is performed by five dancers in swim suits who challenges and puts the beach body's movements into new perspectives. How do we move and how don't we move in swim suits? What positions does a body, seemingly relaxed, take and what positions does it not? How slow can we possibly run the Baywatch-run?
